

TWO HIT-RUN KILLERS HUNTED!

Milk Prices Up Penny A Quart

A one-cent per quart boost in the price of milk this week in southwestern Michigan reflected increases in the cost of almost everything the dairy plants must buy, according to Dean Forburger, manager of Producers Creamery, Benton Harbor.

It did not include any increase, however, for the raw milk purchased from the farmers. The one-cent boost came Wednesday, following in the wake of similar increases posted in surrounding parts of Michigan and Indiana. Retail milk prices went up one cent in South Bend in July, and other areas of Michigan saw it go up since Aug. 1.

A survey showed the new price of a quart of homogenized milk ranging from 29 to 32 cents in the area. Forburger said that a recently released consumer study showed that food prices have shown a steady rise, but that the percentage of income spent on food is declining faster than food prices are rising.

Union Pier Scene Of Drowning

Illinois Man Victim As Rescue Fails

UNION PIER — A 40-year-old Illinois man became Berrien county's sixth drowning victim of the year when he went under off a Union Pier beach yesterday in spite of an attempt to rescue him.

New Buffalo state police identified the man as Rudolph V. Zajicek of Clarendon Hills, Ill. Troopers said swimmers related that Zajicek started waving an arm and yelling for help while swimming 50 feet off Miller's beach. A vacationer from Chicago, Frank Kavaliavskas, got into a 12-foot outboard boat and went to pull Zajicek in, troopers said.

Kavaliavskas grabbed hold of Zajicek's arm. By this time the drowning man was apparently exhausted or unconscious and could not climb into the boat, police said. Kavaliavskas soon lost his grip and Zajicek went under, they said.

Zajicek was pulled from the water 10 to 15 minutes later by swimmers after he was spotted from a boat by Tpr. Robert Tenhouten.

Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation by bystanders and police plus the administration of oxygen failed to revive the victim.

Troopers said Zajicek was swimming in five feet of water at the time. It has not yet been determined whether Zajicek could swim, troopers added.

Three Die In Area Traffic

Benton Youth
Meets Death
On Highland

Hit-and-run traffic accidents killed two persons in Berrien and Allegan counties and a South Haven motorist died Friday night in a collision on a rural Van Buren county road.

The three victims: Eddie Adkinson, 17, of 236 Charles street, Benton township, struck by a hit-and-run car about midnight Friday while he was walking on Highland avenue.

John G. McGuire, 25, of St. Louis, Mo., injured fatally by a hit-and-run vehicle Friday morning as he was pushing a motorcycle with a flat tire on a road in Allegan county.

Curtis Farley, 28, of South Haven, killed in a crash Friday night. Police said witnesses told them Farley was driving without lights. A six-month-old infant miraculously escaped unhurt.

The fatalities raise the 1968 traffic death toll to 32 in Berrien (12 less than at the same time last year); 27 in Van Buren (eight more than all of 1967), and 14 in Allegan.

Benton township police were seeking a car described as a 1957 blue and white Oldsmobile in the death of Eddie Adkinson who was hit near his home while he was going to a barbecue pit to get some fish.

Witness SEES MISHAP: Patrolman Robert Shepherdson reported a witness stated Adkinson was hit on Highland avenue at the intersection of Upradale avenue. He was tossed 50 to 75 feet as the car drove away at high speed, then made a right turn on Crystal avenue.

Police were checking out a 1957 blue Pontiac that later was found abandoned on Pipestone road. A man was seen running across a field.

Eddie's mother, Mrs. Robert Phillips, said her son had been employed as Neighborhood Youth Corps worker and had just drawn his first paycheck.

Eddie was a special education student at Gard school, St. Joseph, where a teacher described him as a compassionate youth, thoughtful for other students and teachers. He had won a first prize in a nationwide bowling contest for the retarded.

Farley of route 1, South Haven, was killed in a spectacular three-car collision. State troopers said they were still trying today to determine the cause of the crash. They said a car driven by Farley, another by Edward Caldwell, 71, route 1, South Haven, and a third vehicle by Richard S. Patton, 42, Scott Crescent, Ill., all collided at the top of the I-196 overpass on M-140 around 9:45 p.m.

Farley's car was totally demolished in the crash. Police said it was broken in two at the SLAIN FAMILY: This is the Richard C. Robinson family of Lathrup Village, Detroit suburb, whose bullet-riddled bodies were found in their cottage near Petoskey, Mich., early this month. "It was mass murder," said Lieut. Col. Melvin Kaufman, deputy director of the Michigan state police, who dispatched the department's crime laboratory to the scene. Investigation indicated the victims had been dead a month. Front row, from left: wife Shirley Robinson, 40; daughter Susan, 7; Richard C. Robinson, 42. Police Are Clueless In Family Massacre

Six Detroiters Killed

GOOD HART (AP) — Nearly three weeks ago, six members of a prominent Detroit suburban family were found shot to death in their cottage along an isolated stretch of the Lake Michigan shoreline near Petoskey.

Police are still without clues in the mass murder.

"We have no suspects, no motive and we continue to run down leads with negative results," Emmet County Sheriff Richard L. Zink said Friday.

The bodies of the Richard Robinson family, of Lathrup Village, were found July 22 when a caretaker opened a padlock on the door of the expensive summer home and entered the living room. The caretaker went to investigate after neighbors complained of unpleasant odors coming from the cottage.

DEAD A MONTH: Found in the cottage were the bodies of Robinson, 42, his wife, Shirley, 40, and their children, Richard, 19, Gary, 17, Randy, 12 and Susan, 8. Police said they had been dead for about a month.

"We still haven't been able to establish a theory on the sequence in which the six were killed," said Zink. "This is a real test for the crime lab."

The State Police Crime Laboratory at East Lansing analyzed

ed evidence recovered from the cabin area but Zink declined to reveal what the evidence included. He said a report from the lab is awaited.

Investigators recovered spent shell casings, leading them to believe two weapons were at the scene of the slayings, one a .22-caliber and the other .25-caliber.

Zink said his department and state police investigators have tracked down between 75 and 100 tips and that several more are received each week. Zink, Emmet County Undersheriff Clifford Fosmore and a State Police Detective work on the case almost every day, Zink said.

DIFFERENT THEORIES: "It seems like each of us has a theory on what happened and we don't quite agree with one another," Zink said. He did not explain the theories.

"There is no information that leads toward one particular theory. That will depend on information from the crime lab."

Investigation is "progressing along," said Zink, adding that it seems to be a process of elimination at this point, apparently bearing out an earlier prediction by Emmet County Prosecutor Wayne R. Smith that it could become "a long, painstaking, meticulous affair."

Wilkins Critical Of GOP Ticket

Early Negro
Reaction 'Chilly'

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Wilkins says of the Republican presidential ticket of Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, "The early reaction (by Negroes) to both has been chilly."

In a statement Friday, Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said:

"Nixon in his acceptance address sought to appeal to all segments of the population without indicating how he proposes to deal equitably with those who are basically satisfied with the status quo and those who are seething with discontent."

"Nixon sounds as if he is asking fair treatment for Negroes but at the same time he is advocating state control under which the poor and the minorities have been deprived of their fair share of federal programs."

"Nixon calls for substitution of the pay check for the relief check but his platform relies on the private employer with little mention of the responsibility of a federal employment program."

"He rightfully condemns rioting but ignores violence directed against the black population."

Word of the injuries was received this week by Adams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Adams, 712 North Elm street, who reported that their son was in a hospital in Vietnam, but expected to be flown soon to Great Lakes Naval Training station hospital in Illinois.

Adams has been in service since last September and in Vietnam since Feb. 4, 1968.

Off-Duty SJ Fireman

Rescued From Cave-in

An off duty St. Joseph fire captain was rescued this morning after he was buried in a drainage ditch for nearly an hour.

Taken to Mercy hospital was William Moore, 34, who was trapped when the wall of the ditch collapsed at 670 Waukonda avenue, Benton Harbor. Moore was working on a job for the Bob Davis Plumbing and Heating Co.

He was pulled out by Benton Harbor firemen, police, ambulance attendants and bystanders who pitched in to help.

Sen. McGovern Jumps Into Presidential Race

May Rally Kennedy Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern, would-be heir to Robert F. Kennedy's convention delegates, Vietnam dissent and possibly staffs, has decided to make an active bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

This was reported Friday night by authoritative sources. The 46-year-old former political science professor confirmed it at a nationally televised news conference today.

Setting for the conference was the Old Senate Office building's Caucus Room, fast becoming a traditional scene for such political launchings. It's the same spot where both assassinated Kennedys, John and Robert, announced their entries into a presidential race.

McGovern's bid is regarded as an effort to pick up and build upon the forces and considerable delegate strength left stranded by the slaying of Robert Kennedy last June.

McGovern became South Dakota's first Democratic senator in 26 years when elected in 1962.

PEACE CANDIDATE: McGovern, one of the first public figures to disagree vigorously with Johnson administration's Vietnam policies, has 26 delegates to the Democratic National Convention definitely committed to him.

They are the votes of the South Dakota delegation which agreed to back McGovern last month during a short-lived boomlet for his active candidacy. Kennedy, a close friend and Senate ally of McGovern's, had won the votes in the state primary.

McGovern said then he was flattered by the move, but realized it was just a way of keeping the delegation together. He said he still intended to seek reelection to the Senate and would campaign only for that office.

Two weeks ago he escalated his national position slightly by saying he would let his name be used as a rallying point for any uncommitted delegates. He said he agreed to this during a conversation with former Kennedy aide Theodore Sorensen.

SORENSEN'S ROLE: McGovern added that Sorensen, who had appeared somewhat lukewarm to the earlier effort to make the senator an active candidate, had asked him to place his name in nomination as a focal point for Kennedy delegates.

At the time he was killed, Kennedy had committed to him more than 300 delegates to the convention, opening Aug. 26 at Chicago.

Much of that force has remained uncommitted with only a few reported shifting to either Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy or Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

They include 151 of the 174-member California delegation, won by Kennedy in a primary the night of his slaying. Another hefty group committed to Kennedy principles is holding out in New York state with additional pockets of strength reported throughout the country.

The most recent Associated Press poll of Democratic convention delegates showed 727 pledged to Vice President Humphrey; 418 to McCarthy; and 801½ uncommitted or pledged to favorite sons.

Total needed for nomination is 1,312.

Vote Yes For Lakeshore School

Monday the Lakeshore district people ballot a third time on their school's request for six additional mills.

The proposal has lost twice already.

If it fails this time, the board will have to slice the program to avoid deficit financing.

We have said prior to the past elections, the mill is the business-like way of maintaining the school. The Lakeshore board is not asking for frills.

Vote YES for the Lancers.

G.O.P. Tries To Fashion A Flexible Ticket

A "dream ticket" for a Presidential campaign is defined as a pair of nominees who, as individuals, can pull in some votes which neither by himself could draw.

Geography has been the solution to this question. If the Presidential nominee is an Easterner, then put up a Westerner or Midwesterner for his running mate.

This compass splitting by 180 degrees is not headed for the trash bin, but America's changing economic and social conditions relegate it to a secondary position.

With Atlanta, New York City, Chicago, Omaha, Los Angeles and Seattle experiencing identical pains and stresses which go with metropolitan and suburban living, the residence of the Presidential nominees means less today than how the public sizes up their approach to meeting those difficulties.

Those guiding the destinies of the two major parties now must decide whether to team up liberals, or conservatives, or scramble the mix in some manner.

This new approach first displayed itself partially in 1960 when the Democrats settled on the Kennedy-Johnson team and it repeated to some extent in '64 with the Johnson-Humphrey presentation.

The Nixon-Lodge offering from the Republicans in 1960 was the GOP's first experiment with the new pharmacopeia. Four years later the elephant tried a pure dose of conservatism in the Goldwater-Miller lineup.

In each illustration, geography retained its traditional prominence, but for the first time both parties dropped it as the sole measuring stick.

This week at Miami Beach, the Republicans all but shoved the compass aside for a gamble on two men who declare themselves as "hewing down the middle of the road."

The acceptance speeches by Spiro Agnew, though varying in length and detail, reduce to the same message. Nothing is to be gained, in their opinions, from playing up to the far left or the far right. They urge the time has arrived to make government responsive to the average guy who pays his taxes, minds his own business, and is fed up with minority groups taking the law in their own hands.

Essentially, their pitch comes down to getting the show back on the road. Law and order is the underlying keynote.

Their departure from appeals to special groups, farm and labor to be specific, assumes that pocketbook worries of preceding years, if not dispelled, count for less than concern with racial tensions, student uprisings, Viet Nam and other violent outbursts now holding the headlines.

Much has been made that Agnew being a border state governor, (Maryland) was chosen as a return payment to the Southern delegations' support for Nixon.

The fact is undeniable, but interpreting it as elevating the Confederate flag to equality with the Stars and Stripes misses the point completely.

The Southern politicians, Democrat and Republican alike, have a bearcat in their backyards this year named George C. Wallace. He is also on the prowl throughout the whole country-side.

The Southern Republican and his Democratic opponent also, is looking for somebody on the ticket with an aura of conservatism who might beat back this raider.

Neither one believes that a candidate drawing empathy from the Negro ghetto areas, such as Rockefeller, Governor Hatfield, Mayor Lindsay, or Governor Romney would be much of a match against the former Alabama governor.

Agnew happened to fit this Southern viewpoint at Miami Beach.

More than that he fulfills the moderate or conservative delegate's wishes from every sector.

Two weeks from now the Democratic convention will have the same dilemma to meet.

Had he been untangled with his pre-convention promise to the Southern delegates not to name a running mate distasteful to them, Nixon probably would have pegged a Lindsay or a Hatfield or a Percy.

Any one of them, Lindsay in particular, could take Nixon into corners he knows he can not penetrate.

Had the baby revolt for Romney, as a second choice to Lindsay, come off Thursday night, Nixon would have adjusted quickly.

With Agnew, he is writing off the Negro vote, which the Democrats have held since 1932, on the dare he can take over the backlash which the Wallace candidacy has stirred up.

With Lindsay or Romney, he would be baiting the Democrats in their lair and allowing water to seek its own level south of the Mason-Dixon line.

The advantage in going with Agnew relates as much as anything to the timing of the two conventions.

The Democrats hold the edge in this regard. They're playing their cards close up while the G.O.P. has disclosed its hand.

Nixon consequently needs a running mate who can block or do some downfield running with equal facility, once the nature of the opposition is known.

A campaign against Humphrey would take one turn (throw the incumbents out). A battle against McCarthy would follow another tack (he's a far out theoretician). A fight with somebody else, should the Democratic convention have to go with the somewhat unlikely choice of a dark horse might require a still different attack.

Nixon has learned the game well, through past defeats and victories, and as his speeches and camera appearances reveal, has acquired the ability to field whatever may be thrown his way.

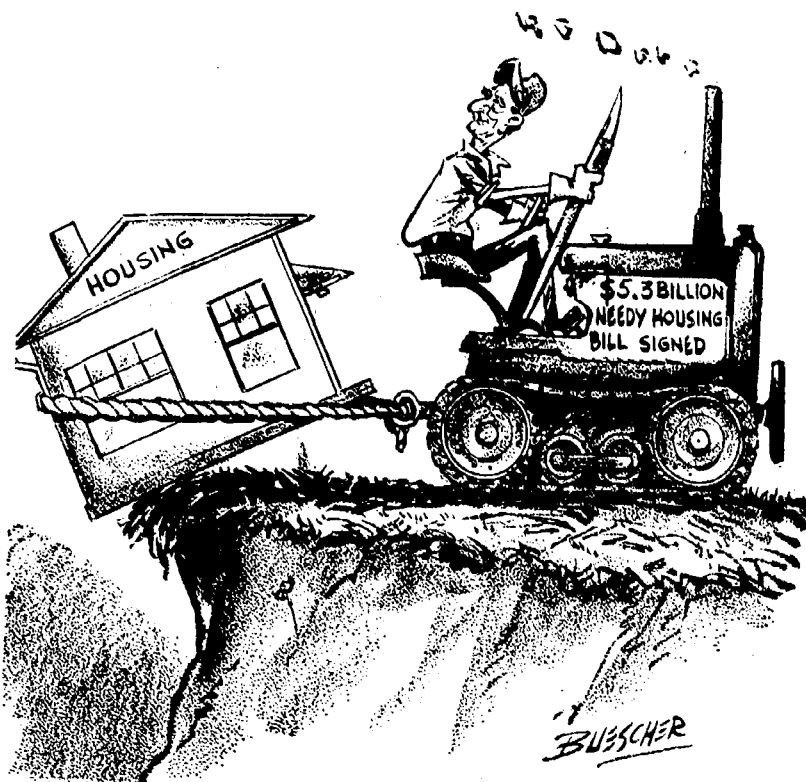

Like any Presidential nominee, however, he needs help from his running mate. If he is to carry him, the results is a foregone conclusion.

As the extremist, liberal or conservative, sees it, the Nixon-Agnew combination is not a glamor team.

We take comfort, however, in the thought that the Democrats have a few albatrosses hanging around their necks.

As he said the other night, Agnew is not a household word from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Lake Superior to the Rio Grande, but he looks like a man capable of changing impressions relatively fast.

Successive flights of Lieberators roared over Salamaua, dropping 103 tons of bombs in 40 minutes. Heavy anti-aircraft fire met the first waves but when the last left the target area the airdrome, the town and harbor of this northwestern New Guinea base was obscured by clouds of smoke from three fires and explosions. Damage was heavy, a headquarters communique said.

DR. COLEMAN

... And Speaking Of Your Health

The problem of bed wetting, or enuresis, is a constant target for attack by physicians and psychiatrists because of the distress it causes in children and their families.

About one year ago I wrote about a new drug, imipramine, which was being used with great success in the treatment and control of this condition, along with psychological direction of the family.

As with all new drugs, before it is released for general use its safety and effectiveness is always tried by other doctors and hospitals around the country. At the Northwestern University Medical School and the DePaul University Mental Health Clinic, the drug was intensively studied on more than 100 children who had the embarrassing problem of bed wetting, without any physical abnormality to account for it. This type of bed wetting is called primary enuresis and has been identified with emotional feelings of insecurity, lack of parental attention and other types of psychological stress.

It was interesting that in one-fourth of all the cases that were studied there was more than one case of bed wetting in the family, which suggests even more highly the possibility of some conflict within that family.

Twenty-five per cent of the children who were given this drug were almost totally relieved of bed wetting. Another 25 per cent had slight, but definite improvement.

The general feeling is that the drug is exceedingly safe and that it has great advantage when used in conjunction with psychological help for the child and for the family. Only then can the condition be kept from recurring.

Even physicians, who read much of the scientific literature in their field and in general science, are never endingly impressed by the dedicated scientists who work in laboratories all over the world.

Sometimes it comes as a total surprise that a man can devote his entire lifetime of 40 or 50 years of scientific research to one tiny part of the jigsaw puzzle which, when put together, will mean the answer to cancer.

Dr. M. Michael Sigel of the University of Miami School of Medicine has been trying to learn why some types of primitive fish rarely develop infectious diseases due to a virus.

Supported by a grant by the Variety Children's Foundation, Dr. Sigel has been studying the shark particularly. He believes that there is a substance in the shark's blood that makes him overcome the beginning and the tetensation of cancers that are found in other animals and in human beings.

At present a group of workers are trying to isolate that substance from the shark's blood and to refine it so that it might be tried to save the lives of human beings with uncontrolled cancers.

Thousands of avenues similar to this scientific one are constantly being investigated. With such diligence and dedication and the money to support research, it is inevitable that the control of cancer will be attained.

Opening lead — nine of diamonds.

There was considerable discussion among the experts in the audience when this hand was played on Bridge-O-Rama during the semifinal round of the 1966 masters team of four championship. South arrived at six hearts largely as the result of optimistic bidding by North, and West led a diamond.

Declarer won with the ace and led the ace of hearts, East following with the queen. Had declarer continued with the king in the hope of finding East with the Q-J doubleton, the slam would have gone down, since West would have acquired two incontrovertible trump tricks.

But, after thinking the matter over, declarer led a low heart towards dummy at trick three. As a result of this play, West could make only one trump trick, and when declarer later finessed successfully against the king of spades, the vulnerable slam came marching home.

Most of the audience thought that South had misplayed the hand, despite the favorable outcome. They contended that instead of leading a low trump at trick three, declarer should have attempted the spade finesse first.

If it turned out that East had the king of spades, there would still be a chance of finding East with the Q-J of hearts doubleton — a circumstance which South had not protected against when he led the low heart at trick three.

If it turned out that West had the king of spades, South could then invoke the safety play in trumps to assure the contract.

Against this it was argued that East, an exceptionally fine player, would duck the queen of spades at trick three if he had the king, since he would reason that his spade trick could not get away.

The experts had a field day trying to prove that declarer had used faulty technique, but, home with the slam.

WHAT LAKESHORE MILLAGE ISSUE INVOLVES

Election To Be Held Monday

Quarter Million Revenue Riding On Outcome

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles on Monday's millage election in Lakeshore school district. The first appeared Friday.

Nearly a quarter million dollars in operating income rides on the Lakeshore school district election Monday, and school officials report this is the last chance to secure the money for the coming year.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the lobby of Lakeshore high school, where voters will ballot on six mills to be levied for three years. The issue twice before has been rejected. Another defeat means educational program cutbacks must be made to meet the 1968-69 budget, according to school officials. The six mills would provide $246,400 toward the budget. The budget for the 1968-69 school year in the Lakeshore school district is $1,923,105.

From local property taxes and state aid, the district expects to receive $1,646,208. Property taxes make up 50 per cent of the figure and state aid makes up the other 50 per cent. This leaves the district short $246,400 to make up its total budget.

FOUR MAJOR NEEDS

The $246,400 is needed basically for four purposes. The district would spend $147,000 for six additional needed teachers and for teacher salary increases, $23,900 for fringe benefits for all employees of the district, $16,500 to replace the boiler and repair the roof at the Stevensville elementary school and $59,900 to pay cash for five new school buses.

The budget for the 1967-68 school year was $1,550,956 and the actual income was $1,413,131 leaving a deficit of $137,825. This deficit was made up by bringing forward the balance from the previous year which was $149,270. Thus the balance at the end of the 1967-68 school year was $11,445.

Lakeshore School Superintendent Edward Stanfinski said that Monday is the last chance to raise the millage income for the coming year and that any election held later could involve only the 1969-70 school year.

IF ISSUES FAIL

Failure at the polls Monday, school officials said, would force cutbacks in areas of guidance, vocal and instrumental music, art and physical education while extra-curricular activities would be eliminated.

School officials continued, saying the six new teachers would not be hired, duty-free lunch hours for teachers would be eliminated and purchases would be reduced in areas of faculty and library supplies.

The new buses would be acquired, officials said, but they would

It should be noted that if voters approve the 8 mill levy, the actual increase will be only 5.45. If approved, the debt retirement levy would be reduced from the 6.20 of last year to 5.70. An increase in the tax base permits a reduction of .5 debt retirement millage.

Rodgers Brothers Are Changing Jobs

Leaders Of Local Area Youths

Taking Juvenile Court, BHHS Posts

By JIM SHANAHAN
BH City Editor

Sammie and Howard are changing jobs, but the Rodgers brothers are not changing their careers of leading youngsters.

Sammie is leaving the Berrien county juvenile department to become coordinator of student affairs at Benton Harbor high school. Howard, who was youth director at the YMCA, picks up Sammie's caseload as a juvenile court agent.

Acting Superintendent Robert Payne said Sammie's duties at BHHS will be guidance of extra-curricular affairs, student-faculty relationships and supervision of attendance matters.

Payne said Sammie was appointed to the non-teaching position because he is highly qualified to work with both youths and adults.

STACEY 'DELIGHTED'

Principal Lionel Stacey declared he is "delighted to have Rodgers on the staff. I feel he will be a major asset." Rodgers was sought for the job at Stacey's request when the coordinator of student affairs was made a full-time position starting with the 1968-69 school year. Chief Juvenile Officer Robert Johnson said Sammie compiled a top-notch record, but there is really little regret of his resignation because the post is filled by another competent person.

Howard knows the youths who have been assigned as probationers to Sammie. In many cases, he is also familiar with their home lives.

ATHLETIC STARS

The Rodgers brothers compiled stellar athletic records with displays of skill and courage both on and off the field of sport. Sammie, a decorated veteran of the Korean War, is a former national AAU boxing titleholder, Golden Gloves champion and fought professionally.

Howard was an all-state halfback and got Little All-American mention at Hillsdale college when it was one of the nation's top small college football powers.

Sammie, 38, has been a juvenile officer four years. He also is member of the Berrien county selective service board, the county board of canvassers and the Benton township housing commission.

He will take courses this fall for the required eight hours he needs to complete requirements for a bachelor's degree in social work. Sammie was graduated from BHHS, Lake Michigan college and attended Western Michigan university.

WELCOMES CHANCE

Sammie said he welcomes the opportunity to work with youngsters in an educational atmosphere. He noted that the behavioral problems that Howard inherits at the juvenile office can have happy outcomes.

A boy from a family with a long police record stole a purse containing more than $100. Placed in a foster home under juvenile court supervision, the boy reacted differently when he found a purse with $40 in it.

"He returned the purse and the woman offered a dime reward. The best part is that he wasn't embittered by the token reward," said Sammie.

Howard, 30, returned from California in May, 1967, to become YMCA youth director.

Howard and Sammie are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rodgers, who reared a Benton Harbor family oriented to youth work.

OTHER BROTHERS

Bill, a former White House security officer, is now with the juvenile division of the Washington, D.C., police. Mack's effort is strictly voluntary. He leads a troop of sharp Pathfinders from the Main Street Seventh-day Adventist church.

Sammie said their father's code of discipline was the

Nixon Irked About Erosion Of Audience

THE only thing that disturbed Richard Nixon about the "Romney rebellion" at the GOP National Convention was that it delayed Nixon's acceptance speech almost an hour.

That's what L. Montgomery Shepard, St. Joseph abstractor and Nixon backer, told this newspaper by telephone from Miami Beach late Friday afternoon.

"Nixon felt his acceptance speech would be his best chance to be heard in full across the country. He scheduled it for 10:15. But the roll call for vice-president delayed him almost an hour. He feels he may have lost a substantial portion of his audience in the East as a result," said Shepard.

SPENDS WITH NIXON

The St. Joseph businessman and GOP wheelhorse was in Miami Beach as a member of the Michigan for Nixon committee. He had an excellent opportunity early Friday to talk with the Republican presidential nominee.

Maryland Governor Spiro Agnew, Nixon's choice for his running mate, gave a party for Nixon at 1:45 a.m. at Tony's Fish Market, a restaurant. About 150 attended; Shepard was one of four from Michigan. Shepard said Nixon was not disturbed that Michigan's Governor George Romney had consented to be nominated for vice-president. But he wished Romney had withdrawn his name before the time-consuming roll call that wound up with an overwhelming majority for Agnew as the vice-presidential nominee.

"In spite of the Romney solo," said Shepard, "Nixon knows he's got a lot of friends in Michigan."

On the roll call, Michigan's delegation split 43 for Romney and five for Agnew. "One of the main things we did was to tell Nixon the reason the Michigan delegates voted for Romney was because they wanted to keep him happy so he'd get out and work to win the state's 21 electoral votes in November."

Shepard said David Upton of St. Joseph, this Congressional district's delegate to the convention, voted for Romney over Agnew.

BH Fire Calls Soar In July

Chief Hetherington Cites Disturbances, New Trash Code

Benton Harbor Fire Chief Ralph Hetherington announced that last month's civil disturbances and the adoption of a trash fire ordinance were principal factors in doubling the number of July alarms answered by the department.

Hetherington said that the department answered 96 alarms last month, compared to 45 in June and 48 last July.

The biggest increase occurred in fire alarms growing out of the city's civil disturbances. Hetherington said that between July 21 and 23, the department received 25 alarms, about 20 more than for an average period.

Hetherington said that 20 of the alarms during the period were directly attributable to the disorders. He said that the department answered five false alarms, 14 incendiary alarms and extinguished one fire of undetermined origin during the disorders.

Damage was minor except for an old barn on Highland avenue where a truck and other items were burned.

Hetherington said that the department was called to extinguish 19 trash fires during the month. The city commission passed an ordinance July 8 banning trash fires.

Although the trash fire ordinance gives Hetherington the authority to issue trash fire permits, he said that he hasn't issued any as yet because he is "trying to accustom the people to the ordinance."

Hetherington said that the trash fire alarms have become so frequent that the department is now answering them with fire cars rather than trucks.

Candidates Have No Expenses

Three candidates who had no opposition in last Tuesday's primary election and spent no money campaigning were the first to file required statements of expenses with County Clerk Forrest Kesterke Friday.

Hazen Harner and Robert Mattner, the Republican and Democratic candidates, respectively, for drain commissioner, both reported no expenses. A like report was filed by Michael Govatos, Democratic candidate for county supervisor in District 11.

Deadline for all candidates to file statements is next Friday, 10 days after the primary, according to Kesterke.

Unitarians Buy St. Joe EUB Church Building

By ARLYS DERRICK
Staff Writer

Purchase of the First Evangelical United Brethren church building in St. Joseph by the Unitarian Fellowship of Berrien County was announced this week with the first service scheduled for Sept. 15 under the new ownership.

John Nichols of Meadville Institute of Chicago will deliver the sermon.

The building was made available for sale because of the recent merger of the EUB denomination with the Methodist church and the subsequent joining of the congregations of the first EUB church and the First Methodist church into the United Methodist church of St. Joseph.

STARTED IN 1959

The Unitarian Fellowship of Berrien County began in 1959 with a few families getting together in their homes, discussing religious education and a similar topics. After slowly growing in membership, the Fellowship rented the Cove of the YWCA in St. Joseph for adult Sunday evening meetings and religious education meetings in the morning. As the membership grew, the meetings were changed to Sunday mornings including a Sunday school program. The YWCA made the necessary rooms available for classrooms.

A united operation with the Meadville seminary was begun which provided a senior student minister on a twice monthly basis. Other speakers, local ministers, and members led the services on the Sundays the student ministers were not available.

Although involved in social action in the area, the membership found it difficult to expand without a full-time building and a committee was formed and re-formed until this summer when the EUB church became available.

CHURCH SEATS 250

Although the church, which will seat 250, is too large for the current membership of 35, a more rapid growth is anticipated with more room for youths to have a place to meet and discuss topics of their choice; for dramatic productions which normally draw smaller audiences; for adult groups to gather to discuss and act upon social problems in our area, and for those with no church affiliations or religious liberals to participate, according to the Unitarian fellowship president, Joseph Drolen.

One of the unique facets of the Fellowship, Drolen points out, is the "talk-back" or discussion of the sermon. After the sermon, 45 minutes are allowed for discussion of the sermon topic with the ministers and congregation members participating.

Anyone wishing to be on the mailing list for the news-letter of the Fellowship which lists its agenda, may contact Mrs. David Abbey, 1651 North Cherry drive, Stevensville, or any member of the Fellowship.

The First EUB church, which celebrated its 100th anniversary this year, purchased the building from the First Congregational church of St. Joseph when the latter moved into its new building on Niles avenue in 1955.

New Principal At Hartford

James Kappler Will Head Junior, Senior High

HARTFORD—James Kappler, 30, formerly of Grass Lake, Mich., has been named Hartford junior and senior high school principal for the coming year.

Hartford School Superintendent Gary Waterkamp said Kappler has been signed to a one-year contract at a salary of $12,000.

Kappler will succeed Wendell

Martin, who resigned as principal to return to teaching. The new principal, a bachelor, moved to Hartford this week and resides at 104 Bennett avenue. For the past 3½ years, Kappler has served as junior-senior high principal at Grass Lake. He was elevated to the post after teaching history for 5½ years in the same district.

Kappler is a native of Manchester, a village in Washington county. He attended Jackson Community college, received a bachelor's degree in 1959 from the University of Michigan and a master's degree in 1965 from Eastern Michigan university. He is a member of the Lions club.

At Grass Lake, in Jackson county, Kappler promoted the exchange student program and said several students there were sent to foreign nations under the program.

In August 1967, Kappler was in San Pedro Sula, Honduras in Central America, doing an evaluation of a junior-senior high school, operated by the World Board of Missions, New York City.

Spelman Is Named Chairman

Preparation For State Conclave To Top Agenda

The Berrien County Republican convention will convene Wednesday Aug. 14, at 8 P.M. in the St. Joseph high school auditorium. Arrangements are being made by the Saint Joseph city Republican committee.

David Upton, Republican county chairman announced the officials for the session: John Spelman, chairman; Mrs. Agnes Reagan, temporary chairman; Mrs. Martin Tretheway, credentials; Ronald Taylor, secretary; Art Robinson; permanent organization, and order of business; John Carey, parliamentarian.

The purpose of the county-wide gathering is preparation for the upcoming state convention.

All interested Republicans are invited to attend. Recently nominated candidates for the November election will also be on hand.

Upton said at least one prominent speaker will address the convention on the GOP National Convention held this week in Miami.

Upton himself is well qualified to speak on the subject. He was the Fourth Congressional District delegate to the convention.

A close observer was State Senator Charles Zollar of Benton Harbor, vice-chairman of the "Michigan for Nixon" committee.

Another was L. Montgomery Shepard, St. Joseph business man and veteran GOP leader, who is also a member of the Michigan for Nixon committee.

Wildcat Strike Is Settled

Twin Cities Container Plant

COLOMA — Production late this morning was resumed at Twin Cities Container Corp. here, following a wildcat strike that occurred last night when the 58 employees on the second shift walked off their jobs.

The plant was closed earlier this morning because first shift employees refused to cross the picket lines, put up after the walkout.

Gordon Noack, personnel manager at the Coloma plant, said today the dispute stemmed from the discharge of an employee. Noack said a settlement was reached after talks between company and union officials. He said production was to resume today.

The company and local 109 of the United Paperworkers and Papermakers last June signed a three-year contract.

Two Robbery Suspects Caught In Police Net

SOUTH HAVEN — Two South Haven men were apprehended Friday night of armed robbery charges after they drove into a police dragnet at South Haven, Van Buren county sheriff's deputies said.

Lodged in the Van Buren county jail today at Paw Paw were Alphis Davis, 22, 314 Fruit street, and Andy Warren, 27, Route 1, South Haven.

Deputies said the two were charged with robbing George Bowers, 43, Grand Junction, of about $40 at the threat of a knife.

Bowers, who said he was employed as a farm laborer in the Grand Junction area, told this newspaper the robbery occurred around 6:30 p.m. on a country road about three miles north of Dowagiac. He said he was riding with three men he met at Grand Junction and that they were supposedly taking him to Dowagiac to look for a "good buy" on a used car.

Instead, Bowers said, the men drove to an abandoned rural area, knocked him down and took his money. He said two of the men threatened his life, but that the third man held them off.

A third man was riding with Davis and Warren at the time of their arrest, but he was not held, police said.

Bowers said he walked to a farm house, called the sheriff's department and an area police dragnet was established. Deputies then drove Bowers into South Haven and while parked to talk to him about the robbery, noticed a car drive by that matched the description of the one Bowers said was used in the robbery.

A sheriff's patrol car and three city police cars, containing seven officers, converged in the area and the arrest was made on Humphrey street, in South Haven, without further incident, police said.

"I've never seen anything like that," Bowers commented afterward. "They had 'em arrested in about an hour."

City police logged the arrested men at 7:20 a.m.

$4,500 Loot Grabbed At Galien High

Thieves Break In Through Window

Thieves hauled $4,593 in business machines out of Galien high school, a school official reported to Berrien sheriff's officers yesterday.

Included in the loot were four adding machines, three calculators, three voice transcribers and six typewriters.

Berrien county sheriff's officers reported that entry was made by breaking a window on a door on the east side of the building and opening the door.

The entry was between 9:30 p.m. Thursday and 8:54 a.m. Friday, Dave Bartz of Galien high school told officers.

Neighbors reported seeing a blue panel truck parked near the school several nights this week.

All of the equipment was taken from the commercial department.

The building has been undergoing remodeling.

Ewald Engle of Route 1, Berrien Center, reported a revolver and $2 in change missing when he arrived home Friday.

Leonard Priefer, Route 1, Bridgman, told sheriff's officers his 1961, four-door Buick was taken from his garage sometime Friday. The keys were in the car.

Bible School Set At Bloomingdale

BLOOMINGDALE — Bible classes will be held in the Bloomingdale Bible church daily from 7 until 9 p.m. from Aug. 12 through the 16th, according to the Rev. Paul Snuffer, pastor of the church.

The classes for adults and children will be directed by the Rev. Kent Wray of the Rural Bible Mission.

Transportation and nursery care for pre school children will be provided.

McDaniels To Teach At Child Institute

COLOMA — Garry L. McDaniels, formerly of Coloma, received a doctor of philosophy degree during the summer commencement exercises last Sunday at the University of Michigan.

He will be an assistant professor of education next fall at the Institute for Child Study, affiliated with the University of Maryland at College Park, Md.

McDaniels is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S.L. McDaniels of U.S. 12, Coloma, and a 1958 graduate of Coloma high school. He received a bachelor's degree in 1962 from the University of Michigan, taught at the Ann Arbor public school system and returned to the U-M in 1966 as a National Defense Education Fellow.

McDaniels also has served as an education consultant in the United States and South America and as program director for two Ann Arbor management consultant firms, Warren Ketcham & Associates and Industrial Selection and Survey Service.

He is married and the father of an infant girl, Melissa, born July 25 of this year.
